NEWS FROM EASTERN MAINE.

Kenduskeag Letter.

[Regular Correspondence of Whig and Courier.]

About seven o'clock Thursday evening, the cry of fire was heard in our streets, and it proved to be the dwelling house of W. H. Cookson, about one-half mile north of the village. Being in the early part of the evening, and as a team was just passing through the village, some twenty of our inhabitants were soon on the spot with many more following, and by their exertions they saved most of the furniture in the house, stock in the barn, carriages, etc. The cause of the fire was the explosion of a kerosene lamp. Mr. Cookson had gone into the chamber for something and placed the lamp down, when the explosion took place, setting the house on fire. Insured in the Androscoggin Patron's Mutual Aid Society. The fire caught in about the centre of the buildings and burned to the ground in a short time, being all connected. The buildings are but a short distance north of E. B. Stackpole's dwelling house, but the wind was favorable for them, and they were covered with snow, otherwise it might have proved a more disastrous fire.

Hampden Letter.

[Regular Correspondence of Whig and Courier.]

The social event of the winter was the Masonic Ball, Wednesday evening. For several years the members of Mystic Lodge have given an annual ball which has always been largely attended, and that given Wednesday evening was no exception. About one hundred and twenty-five couple were present and participated in the festivities of the evening. At an early hour dancing was begun in the Town Hall, music being furnished by Messrs. Stone, Hall, Cushing and ——, of Bangor. Those not given to dancing found entertainment in the Masons' Hall, at card playing and other amusements. During the evening Mr. Hall rendered three solos, which were received with much favor and heartily applauded. Supper was served from 10.30 to 11.30 P. M. Every effort was put forth by the members of the Lodge to make the affair a success. Probably no Masonic Lodge in a country town has a better hall or more finely furnished than Mystic Lodge.

The winter term of the Academy closes, February 25. At the two entertainments for the benefit of the Academy, over a hundred dollars were received. The outlook for the spring term is good and the attendance will be large. James H. Butler, Esq., President of the Board of Trustees, has been before the Educational Committee of the Legislature in the interest of the Academy.

Evening meetings still continue at the M. E. church. Quarterly meeting Sunday, February 20, sermon by Rev. F. C. Rogers.

Quite a number of persons are making, and learning to make, wigwam slippers. It is easy, pleasant work, and will probably furnish employment for a large number in the future.

Miss Annie Martin, of Portland, is visiting Mrs. R. H. Patten.

A. [illegible] Allen is at home, sick. He has been surveying for the Berlin Mills Company, in New Hampshire.

Dr. F. F. Benjamin is soon to remove to Massachusetts.

Dover Letter.

[Regular Correspondence Whig and Courier.]

A daughter of Mr. E. F. Dunphy, of Sebec, who, with several other members of the family was sick all the fall with typhoid fever, took a large dose of aconite, by mistake, a few days since, and nearly died from its effects. Fortunately a physician was near at hand and prompt remedies saved her life.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ricker died recently within three days of each other at Osage, Iowa, from typhoid pneumonia. Mr. Ricker formerly resided in this town but removed to the West some eighteen years since.

The Colby Glee Club gave a concert in Central Hall, Tuesday evening. The attendance was small but the entertainment was said to have been very satisfactory.

The business manager of Mrs. Robinson's Concert caused much amusement by sending posters through the country announcing a concert in "Union" Hall in this place, to be followed by a ball, and honoring C. H. Kittredge and W. C. Woodbury with positions as floor managers. Had he substituted the name of one of our ministers for that of "friend Kittredge, who is one of our most dignified citizens, it would have been full as appropriate.

The ladies of the Congregational society are preparing for a fair, to come off in a few weeks.

The many friends of Rev. P. B. Thayer, of Garland, are pleased to learn that he is rapidly recovering from his sickness. Mr. Thayer has been so identified with the Congregational church of this place that its members are greatly interested in his welfare.

[illegible] that J. B. Chase intends to move his grocery business from the lower end of the town to the store now occupied by F. D. [illegible] in Union Square.

Pittsfield Letter.

[Regular Correspondence Whig and Courier.]

The good sleighing of the present week calls out the steppers, of which Pittsfield has a goodly number. Col. Morrill has [illegible] purchased a promising colt, which [illegible] is worth nearly every day. [illegible] by the Light of the Moon [illegible] drew a good house Tuesday [illegible] but the play was not what many expected, though there was sufficient of the ludicrous for those who enjoyed that class of amusement.

The special from Hartland started from that village with about one hundred passengers, and when about one-half mile from there broke a wheel under the tender, and they were obliged to postpone their trip. It was quite a disappointment to many, as they had purchased tickets for the play here.

The tickets for the course of entertainments for the benefit of Union Hall are selling well. The first entertainment will occur February 26, under the auspices of the Pittsfield Rialto Dramatic Company.

The interest in the meetings at the Institute still continues, and new ones are starting on the good way at each meeting.

East Corinth Letter.

[Regular Correspondence Whig and Courier.]

One of our old-time and successful school teachers, is Mrs. Wealthy L. Tozier, now in her ninety-first year, and one to whom belongs the honor of teaching the first town school east of the Kenduskeag stream, in Corinth; and this school she taught in this village in the summer of 1814, at a private house, the partitions of which were made of hemlock bark set up edgewise between stakes driven into the ground. Of all the pupils attending her first term of school, in this village, there are now living, Elbridge H. Bragdon, Benjamin Dyer and Albert Gove, each one being over eighty years old. At the close of her second term here, she was engaged to teach in Foxcroft, and to get there she was obliged to ride on horseback through the woods by a spotted line and bridle path, nearly twenty miles. After closing her engagement in Foxcroft, she was employed to teach in the town of Brewer, the same success attending her efforts there, as elsewhere. She taught fourteen schools in all, and received the liberal sum of one dollar per week, of five and one-half days, with the kindly privilege of "boarding round." She retains her mental faculties to a remarkable degree, taking an intelligent interest in the affairs of the Government, watching closely the doings of Congress, and holds in high esteem the member of the House of Representatives from her district.

Oscar Pierson, Esq., of Detroit, Mich., is in town visiting at his father's, Henry L. Pierson. He went West twenty-seven years ago, where he has been successfully engaged in lumbering and in the timber-land business.

Rev. F. [illegible] Brooks, of Harrington, has been in town a day or two, this week, soliciting funds to raise the mortgage on the Methodist parsonage, in that village, and was quite successful.

The G. A. R. Post, of Kenduskeag, was obliged to postpone their intended visit to the G. A. R. Post, here, Saturday evening last, on account of bad travelling.

J. W. Husting, of the Parker House, and his sister, Mrs. Gerrill, have gone to Moosehead Lake and Roach River, visiting for a short time.

Ira W. Davis, Esq., has gone to Augusta, and will be absent several days.

Newport Letter.

[Regular Correspondence Whig and Courier.]

Lieut. Howe delivered two very powerful and interesting temperance lectures at Meridian Hall, last Sunday afternoon and evening. Large audiences were present at both meetings and gave the speaker the closest attention. Lieut. Howe is a forcible, interesting speaker and is thoroughly in earnest in the temperance work. At the close of the meeting over one hundred persons signed the iron-clad pledge, many of whom had been addicted to the intoxicating cup.

Parties from Plymouth, with friends from this and adjoining towns, gave a Valentine ball at Meridian Hall, last Monday evening, some over forty couples participating. Music was furnished by an orchestra of five pieces.

Thirty-four degrees below zero last Monday morning.

The fire engine arrived last Thursday.

The next session of Penobscot District Lodge, I. O. G. T. will be held with Newport Lodge, No. 381, Newport, on Friday, March 4th, commencing at ten o'clock A. M. Meridian Hall has been engaged for the occasion. Half fare to delegates and members attending the meeting will be given by the Maine Central Railroad from all points in the district. The annual election of district officers takes place at this session.

Milo Letter.

[Regular Correspondence of the Whig and Courier.]

The Colby Glee Club gave a concert at Chase's Hall, Monday evening. The attendance was small, but those present agreed that it was the best thing presented in town for a number of years. Another time they would doubtless draw a large audience.

Mr. C. W. Scripture, a clerk at Bailey and Parker, came near meeting with a fatal accident a few days ago. While drawing water from the canal his foot slipped, causing him to fall into the canal from which he was rescued with difficulty.

The Free Baptist Church gave a sheet and pillow case sociable Wednesday eve, at Chase's Hall. The Hall was packed with young and old, each seeming to enjoy themselves to the fullest extent. The proceeds must have swelled considerably the church treasury.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

The Maine Central has made for the legislative session the tickets from Augusta to Lewiston by the afternoon train good via Cumber and Junction, thus avoiding the long wait at Brunswick and enabling the travelers to reach Lewiston nearly an hour earlier.

Senator Frye and his wife, who are to sail for Europe on March 12, have taken passage in the Aurania of the Cunard line for Liverpool. They will remain in England only a day or two, as they intend to go direct to Italy and to spend the spring months there. They will not return to the United States until late in the autumn.

Aroostook.

The little daughter of Hamilton Yerxa, of Houlton, who was so fearfully burned by the naphtha accident about two weeks ago, after enduring extreme suffering, died Sunday morning, February 13th, reports the Aroostook Times.

David Richardson, a resident of Presque Isle for more than a quarter of a century, died at his residence in that town, Sunday morning, of heart disease, at the age of about sixty years. He leaves a daughter and son and a large circle of friends to mourn his death.

Cumberland.

Mrs. Harriet T. [illegible], of Portland, by her will, has left $5 apiece to each of the inmates of the Old Ladies' Home, of Portland, for their personal use.

A vessel from Japan, discharging at Portland, for Boston parties, has some 40,000 bamboo canes aboard, and the rest of her cargo made up of lanterns, fans, and other Japanese goods.

The party given at Portland City Hall, Tuesday evening, for the benefit of the Home for Aged Men, was very successful. It is estimated that over 1,000 tickets were sold and that the benefit to the home will exceed $400.

Steamer Sardinian, of the Allan line, Capt. Smith, arrived at Portland, from Liverpool, Wednesday morning. She had a rough passage, but reports no damage. There were four cabin passengers, nine intermediate and forty-seven steerage, and a full cargo.

There are three new cottages to be built the coming season, connected with the Ottawa House, from designs furnished by John Calvin Stevens. Mr. A. D. Smith has contracted to build them. A fine cottage has been arranged to be built for Thomas Cushing, of which Mr. Stevens is also the architect. A cottage to be built for Mrs. Ware, from designs by a Washington architect, will add very much to the harbor side of the island. The wharf is to be enlarged and a floating dock connected with it. The bathing house is to be enlarged by the addition of twenty-four rooms. Three more artesian wells are to be drilled, and a summer house, with pump connecting with one of them, to be built near the wharf.

Twenty years ago, reports the Portland Argus, a girl who had just come to Portland on the Boston boat lost her purse containing $250, all her worldly wealth. As the story is now told, while she was searching for the missing money on the boat, a young man from Casco, accompanied by a girl whom he was to marry, came in and joined in the search. Suddenly he spied the purse but instead of picking it up and giving it to the owner, he put his foot on it and when no one was looking it up and put it in his pocket. He subsequently gave it to his sweetheart, the only person that saw him take it, for safe-keeping, but the girl's mother made her give it back to the dishonest fellow. Perhaps she gave something else back, too, at least the couple are now both married but not to each other. It is said that an attempt will now be made to compel the man to return the money with interest to the rightful owner or her heirs.

Hancock.

Hon. John D. Hopkins, of Ellsworth, celebrated his seventieth birthday, Monday.

Rev. W. C. Stetson has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Baptist church at South Hancock, and will begin his labors there next Sunday.

Mr. Samuel Maxim, of Wayne, has made arrangements with Gov. J. R. Bodwell to manufacture and sell his patent brush extractor, on a royalty. This will insure its immediate introduction. Mr. M. has had inquiries for it from California and Oregon.

Mr. G. H. Fisher, First Assistant Messenger of the House, was on Monday presented with a handsome silver watch and chain, by members of the House of Representatives. The watch is suitably inscribed and forms an acceptable gift.

The suit of Mr. Alex J. Cameron, formerly of Augusta, against the New York Tribune for $50,000 damages for libel, is now on trial in the New York court.

Just as the morning passenger train was nearing Clinton depot, Monday, the section men who were preceding it discovered a broken rail. The approaching train was signalled and a new rail procured and the train proceeded less than half an hour late. Scarcely one of the passengers were aware of their narrow escape.

One evening this week a gentleman went to one of the Augusta livery stables to obtain conveyance to North Washington. He was fitted out with a team and driver, and started out at 8.30 o'clock. Two hours later, when the gentleman thought he must have nearly reached his destination, the team drove into the east end of the Kennebec bridge, the driver having lost the way and returned to the point from whence he started. Another driver was obtained at the stable and the gentleman reached North Washington in due season.

Piscataquis.

There is no busier small place in the whole State than Willimantic. This winter's operations there have been somewhat hindered by the deep snows making hard hauling, but it is all right now. The teams are landing at the mill every day seventy-five cords of the best quality of birch spool wood and 2,000 cords are already piled around there. Some 4,000 cords in all will be brought to the mill this winter and it has already been cut. The mill is running night and day and is sawing thirty cords every twenty-four hours or what is equal to 30,000 gross per month of 200-yard spools. The company uses finishing machines of its patent which can produce three or four times as many spools as the ordinary machine of that kind. A small army of men is employed in and around the factory this winter.

Mr. James T. Pottle, contractor for the erection of the public library building, is at Belfast making preparations for the work, and will no doubt have the building completed several weeks before the contract time, which is September 1st.

Mrs. Daniel R. Maddocks, living at the Head of the Tide, Belfast, met with a serious accident last Thursday afternoon. While putting on a dress, she in some way fell down and fractured her hip. She was alone in the house and was unable to move. It was about three hours before any one came to her assistance so that she suffered greatly. A physician was summoned as soon as she was found to be injured, and he pronounced the injury a very serious one, and especially so in this case, as Mrs. Maddocks is nearly eighty years of age.

Mr. C. J. Hall, of Belfast, has about half completed his contract for the First National Bank building at Omaha, Nebraska. The material used is Mr. Hall's red granite from his Mt. Desert quarry, and the plans indicate a magnificent structure. The basement is rock face and above that hammered stone with much carved and ornamental work. The main entrance is an arch containing elaborate carvings, and above is a tablet containing the words First National Bank, in raised, polished letters, with carving between. It is a tribute to Maine material and Maine workmanship that both should be sought for in putting up so costly a building in the far West.

Dr. P. P. Nichols has shown the Journal one of a pair of shoes presented his mother by a Chinese lady at Hong Kong. The shoes were worn by the lady, and were taken from her feet at the time of the presentation. The lady was a [illegible] years old, and the mother of three children. The shoe shows [illegible] from heel to toe 3¼ inches, the [illegible] inches wide and the ball [illegible] narrowing down to a point. The lady informed Mrs. Nichols that when her oldest daughter was eight years of age, she asked her if she wished to let her feet grow or have them broken like her mother's. The girl decided on the small feet and the operation of bandaging was begun at once. At the time Mrs. Nichols saw her she was suffering untold agonies night and day—the operation at that stage being very painful.

Mrs. Catharine McGary, mother of Noah S. McGary, customs officer at Calais, died suddenly last week. She had an ill turn a few nights before her death, and sent for an attorney and had her will made, and after signing it and shaking hands with the witnesses, said that her life's work was completed. She then appeared in good health, but died the next morning.

Mr. John Maloney, by his attorney, Edgar Whidden, appeared before the special meeting of the Calais Mayor and Aldermen and claimed the reward for finding the body of John Bough, supposed to have been murdered in March, 1876. After considerable discussion the board passed an order instructing the Mayor to draw his order for the amount and pay it over to Mr. Maloney.

Great Falls, N. Mrs. Benj. Harmon died at West Buxton, January 31st, aged ninety-one years, eight months. Mr. and Mrs. Harmon were married January, 1820, having lived together sixty-seven years. Mr. Harmon is now about ninety years old and very feeble in health, and nearly prostrated with grief. Probably but few couples in the State have lived together as long as Mr. and Mrs. Harmon.

Dismal Tidings.

THE FORTUNES OF THE SINALOA COLONISTS AT TOPOLOBAMPO.

A letter has been received in Portland from Mr. M. H. Chase, one of the Portland party of Sinaloa colonists. The letter was written on the ninth of January, and was addressed to Mr. Chase's brother. It was about a month in reaching its destination. The letter was written in pencil, and some of the words were badly blurred, the paper evidently having seen hard usage. In a previous short letter, written from Guaymas, Mr. Chase said that there the colonists were well received. The mayor read them an address of welcome, and a serenade was tendered them on every evening of their stay. The steamer promised by the Credit Foncier Company, however, was not there, and the colonists, after purchasing three months' provisions, had chartered a French ship at a cost of $9 a person, to carry them to their destination. In the letter written from Topolobampo Bay, Mr. Chase says:

"We arrived at our destination Thursday, [January 5]. I confess I was somewhat disappointed with the appearance of what I supposed was the site of the future city. Since I have found that it is only a part of it, I am better satisfied with it. We are located in a hill, or rather a low ridge of hills, on the Straits of Joshua, which, if you remember, connect the inner harbor with Topolobampo Bay. It is where they propose to have the railroad come down. It looks as though it would require considerable work to cut through these hills, but I suppose everything is possible. The city site proper is about six or seven miles east of our present location. There are two hills between, which are 600 or 700 feet high. I should think the site is almost as level as a floor. They say there is a rise of three feet to a mile, but it does not seem so. The spring tides overflow a part of it and there is no growth whatever on that part—just a level, sandy plane, about ten feet above high water mark.

A little further to the east is a kind of table-land three or four feet higher which extends with a gradual rise clear to the mountains. Around here cactus is found, but the land bears little, if any, grass.

They have done a lot of work here clearing off these hills. There don't seem to be anything but rocks and cactus trees. I understand that we shall have to go to the river. There is where we should be now. We could not live in tents in the wet season, and we can not build on the city site until the water has been brought to it. Water is our greatest bugbear. We get plenty to drink and cook with, but are not allowed to wash with it. We use salt water altogether for that purpose. The water we have is good and cool, not very far behind the Sebago. We get it from an island seven miles away. It is said that in the rainy season the high tides flow into it and make it brackish. That is why we shall have to go to the river to locate. The company have some property there, I believe.

I am in pretty good health, yet with a cold that I shall not get rid of until we get into a tent or something to sleep in, where there won't be quite so much draught. The weather in the middle of the day is like June. At night it is like November. There are very heavy dews, which wet the tents like rain. I don't think the situation is hardly what it is represented. It will take years and years and years to build a city here. We cannot get water from the river, as it is too far away. They have a road cut, and it is fifty miles by that road. The only thing to be done is to locate on the river and try and support ourselves until the company can get things to enable us to build on the city site. There are no tools or anything here now. I shall not be able to write as often as I expected. Stamps are scarce and money a sight scarcer. We chipped in all we had at Guaymas to buy provisions, and it is a pretty scarce article in this camp at present."

"Saved My Life"

Is a common expression, often heard from those who have realized, by personal use, the curative powers of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. "I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died from lung troubles.—E. Bragdon, Palestine, Tex.

About six months ago I had a severe Hemorrhage of the Lungs, brought on by a distressing Cough, which deprived me of sleep and rest. I had used various cough balsams and expectorants, without obtaining relief. A friend advised me to try

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

I did so, and am happy to say that it helped me at once. By continued use this medicine cured my cough, and, I am satisfied, saved my life.—Mrs. E. Coburn, 18 Second st., Lowell, Mass.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for over a year, and sincerely believe I should have been in my grave, had it not been for this medicine. It has cured me of a dangerous affection of the lungs, for which I had almost despaired of ever finding a remedy.—D. A. McMullen, Windsor, Province of Ontario.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life. Two years ago I took a very severe Cold which settled on my lungs. I consulted physicians, and took the remedies they prescribed, but failed to obtain relief until I began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Two bottles of this medicine completely restored my health.—Lizzie M. Allen, West Lancaster, Ohio. tf

The Railroad Question

Now that Bangor's position in relation to the proposed amendment of the charter of the International Road has been so clearly stated before the Legislative Committee, the time intervening before a report is submitted can and should be used by our Representatives in placing the matter, so far as is possible, before the individual members of the Legislature in its true light It has of course been for the interests of our opponents to prejudice the legislators against Bangor, and to this end much has been said about the Bangor and Piscataquis Road being before the Legislature so often in opposition to some railroad scheme the evident object being to create the impression that the road is sort of a dog in the manger and is constantly seeking some unfair advantage They of course stop short of saying that in every case the road has been forced to go before the Legislature by reason of the encroachments of this foreign corporation, which has no sooner gained one point than it has come forward with some new scheme, the effect of which would be to force the city to accept its terms for the purchase of the Bangor and Piscataquis Road or see its property go to decay However often the friends of our road have been before the Legislature it has never been with the object of gaining any unfair advantage, but always to seek the protection of the laws under which it was put in operation. The eminent fairness of the city in the present contest is shown by the proposition submitted to the committee by Mr Stetson One, and the principal reason assigned by the International folks for the proposed change in their route has been that the curves and grades of the Bangor and Piscataquis Road were such as to prevent its use under the provision of the Dominion subsidy act That being the case Bangor says let the Governor appoint a commission of three competent engineers, whose duty it shall be to determine what changes are required to bring our road within the provision of the subsidy act and then the terms of use, lease, or purchase shall be mutually agreed upon between the two roads, or in case of a failure to agree the matter shall be referred to the Railroad Commissioners or a commission of seven appointed by the Supreme Court as the International Road may elect and if the decision thus rendered is not accepted by the Bangor road then the International shall not be required to use any part of our road If on the other hand the terms are accepted then a contract is to be made between the two roads the necessary changes in curves to be made by the International the expense of the same to be taken into consideration by the commission when fixing the terms of the contract Accepting as valid the reason assigned by the International folks for objecting to the B & P Road, namely its curves and grades, we fail to see how they can oppose this proposition on any grounds upon which they can go before a Maine Legislature It is a plain straight-forward business proposition and we think it will be so considered by the members of the Legislature when they carefully examine the case on its real merits

MATTERS OF INTEREST BEFORE THE LEGISLATURE,

[Special Correspondence of Whig and Courier ]

AUGUSTA, Feb 18

The great event of this week in the Legislature has been the debate on the labor question Two sessions daily were held Wednesday and Thursday and the second day the debate was heated In the beginning all seemed smooth sailing for the Looney bill but a strong opposition developed as time progressed and its friends had their hands full to support it Numerous amendments were offered which so complicated matters that both the Heath and Looney bills with amendments were returned to the committee, the Senate concurring yesterday

FISH AND GAME

The Committee on Fisheries and Game heard Hon J C Talbot yesterday, relative to the fish and game laws and their enforcement in Washington County, his home The chief point which he made was in regard to the expense of enforcement He thought it exhorbitant in his county, where it cost $2,500 during the past year to enforce the game law Much money had been needlessly spent He did not believe the abundance of deer which now prevailed was owing to the good work of the wardens but rather to the absence of wolves which had been exterminated He would have the law enforced by the Sheriff and his deputies instead of by wardens He would be willing, however, to see a capable man appointed in each county, and believed in a law preventing the "dogging" of deer and crust hunting The fish and game laws and their enforcement should, he thought, be separated from each other

T W Vose, Esq , of Bangor, spoke in support of the present game law Fish Commissioner Stilwell was present at the hearing The various efforts to weaken our fish and game laws will doubtless all fail, as the benefits derived from said laws are well understood.

FOOD ADULTERATION

The Judiciary Committee gave an interesting hearing Wednesday on the bill to prevent the adulteration of molasses and other articles of food. Prof. Jordan, of the State College, was before the committee and gave the results which he had obtained in analyzing samples of molasses taken in different parts of the State. He had found tin in nearly all of them; also glucose. Tin was introduced to lighten the color, and as a rule the lighter the article the more adulterated it was. Hiram Knowlton, Esq , of Portland, who appeared in the interest of the jobbers and importers of that city, presented a new bill providing for the appointment of not less than three inspectors by the Governor who should receive a salary of $200 each and half the fines. The adulterated article, while a cheat and a fraud, interferes very much with legitimate trade.

QUESTION OF TAXATION.

One of the most important matters which the Legislature has under consideration is the bill providing for compulsory inventories to be used as the basis for taxation. The bill was advocated before the Judiciary Committee on Thursday by Judge Savage, of Lewiston. It provides for the issuing of blanks to tax payers who shall fill them out, giving a list of all their property whether real estate, personal, securities, or otherwise; also at the same time, what they owe. These blanks after being filled out are to be presented to the town authorities after being duly sworn to. The property of anyone who refuses to conform to this law shall be valued by the assessors and taxed on double its value. The prime object of this, so its supporters say, is to tax the personal property, so much of which escapes at present. The bill presented is practically the same as the Vermont law, and it is said to operate with excellent effect in that State There was no remonstrance

A BUSY COMMITTEE.

The Committee on Agriculture has seemed to have more than its share of important business. Thursday it gave the petitioners for an increase in the salary of the Secretary of the Board of Agriculture from $600 to $800, leave to withdraw, also the same for an increase in the appropriation for Institute work from $1400 to $2500 Dogs must be licensed if the committee's report is accepted. An annual fee of $1 each for males and $2 for females is recommended The committee will report ought to pass on the bill raising the stipends of the Eastern and Maine State fairs from $500 to $1000 each, to be devoted to beef, pork and poultry; ought to pass to increase the number of Agricultural Reports from 10,000 to 20,000. The committee believe in paying a bounty of ten cents a head on crows.

SALARY OF JUDGES

There was a lively debate in the House Thursday on the act to increase the salaries of the justices of the Supreme Court. The minority report against the bill was accepted by a vote of 75 to 65 Among the speakers in favor of the bill were Messrs Wiswell, Noble, Barker, Cloutier Looney and Powers Mr. Barker said one of the most important measures before the Legislature this winter was legislation for the laboring man He trusted that in doing that, gentlemen would make no discrimination in regard to the kind of labor whether he is a man who works on the farm, in the factory, in the office, in the mill or on the Supreme Bench of the State What we wanted to do was to arrange that each man should receive a fair salary or fair pay for the work that he performs He referred to the fact that two years ago, when the Supreme Bench lost one of its brightest lights, because he could not afford to remain on the bench for the salary he received He thought it was a disgrace He found upon examination that our Judges receive less pay than Judges on any Supreme Bench in all but three States in the Union, and that in those three States the Supreme Court has no such duties to perform as that of Maine

FORTY THREE BELFAST CITIZENS

were in the city Thursday A large number were interested in the Monson Railroad matter, but when they arrived they found the impending contest had been disposed of the Bangor people having withdrawn, and thus their opposition to the repeal of any portion of the Monson Railroad charter was not required There was a breeze in the room of the Committee on Legal Affairs when the act to make the jurisdiction of trial justices at Belfast the same as that of the municipal judge in offences against the liquor law and there was a lively discussion Geo E Brackett, Esq , and Revs Jenkins and Wentworth appeared as a committee in support of the measure

THE PRISON LABOR

The State Prison Committee has decided to recommend that the Legislature advise the Governor and Council to see about the employment of a part of those convicts now making harnesses and carriages, in the manufacture of whips, chairs such as the Shakers make, corn brooms and baskets The idea is that by the addition of these industries the labor at the prison would be so subdivided that no one industry would suffer much. Meanwhile the judiciary committee have prepared for a hearing on the same subject which will come off February 23d

REPORTED FAVORABLY

Among the bills favorably reported is that providing for a charter for the Castine and Bangor Railway

ELEVATING.

Life insurance appears to much that is elevating in man's nature It asks some denial and expenditure from him that he himself may not live to see rewarded But the return to those for whom he is striving is sure enough, and has never yet proved inopportune There is less of selfishness in the act of taking and continuing insurance than in any other outlay a man assumes and that the habit of insuring has become so universal is a tribute alike to the worth of the system and a proof that self-abnegation is a much more general human attribute than is often credited with being —Chicago Inter Ocean

MAINE NEWS

FROM THE STATE CAPITOL.

Doings of the Legislature.

AUGUSTA, Feb. 18. The Senate devoted the morning to the resolve authorizing citizens of the State to vote on the constitutional amendment for female suffrage. The committee stood five for and five against the resolve. It passed the Senate, however by a vote of 17 to 5.

The House again discussed the Gettysburg appropriation. Mr. Wakefield, of Bath, supported his $3,000 amendment in an able and patriotic speech. Messrs. Sawyer, Clark, of Saco, Dickey, Moore, Shaw, Wright, Warren and Smith joined in the debate. An appropriation of $15,000 unanimously passed the House.

The following bills also passed the House: Bill an act to provide for the burial expenses of honorably discharged soldiers and sailors of Maine; bill an act amending chap. 70, R. S., relating to insolvency proceedings; bill an act repealing sec. 4, chap. 51, R. S., relating to returns by treasurers of steam navigation companies, each to take effect when approved.

FROM WISCASSET.

Shot While Breaking into a House.

WISCASSET, Feb. 18. Wilson B. Groves, of this town, was shot last night by Capt. W. H. Clark while trying to effect an entrance into Clark's house. The ball entered his abdomen an inch below the navel. Groves is in a critical condition. The physicians say there is no chance for his recovery. Clark surrendered himself, but has not been taken into custody.

Additional Particulars.

The Clark's house, in which the shooting affair occurred, is situated about half a mile from the village. Graves, the man shot by Clark, married Clark's daughter. On account of Graves' intemperate habits they did not live happily together and a divorce was the result. Since the divorce Graves has, when intoxicated, several times visited Clark's house. When admittance was denied he has broken in and cursed his divorced wife. According to Clark's story she has had to flee to her father's room for protection. It is reported that years ago Clark threatened to shoot him. Last Tuesday night Graves went to Clark's house, broke in and kicked up a general row while drunk. Last night he again visited the place, broke into the woodshed and tried to break into the kitchen.

Mr. Clark's daughter heard him and went to her father's room and told him someone was trying to break into the house. Clark got up, took a heavy naval revolver, presented to him at the outbreak of the rebellion by citizens of Wiscasset, went to the window and saw a man trying to burst in the outside door to the kitchen. He ordered him away but the command was paid no attention to. He then fired in the air. Still he did not desist. Then Clark fired at him. When Clark found out who he was he took him into the house and sent for Dr. Cushman and deputy sheriff Patterson. This was at midnight. The wounded man was taken home. A visit to him a few minutes ago found him suffering terribly. Dr. Cushman, then present, assured me that he saw no chance for his recovery.

HEAVY STORMS EAST AND WEST.

Trains Delayed and Damage Caused.

Despatches received report heavy storms prevailing at New Bedford, Mass., where much damage was done to shipping, at Philadelphia, where lightning and rain caused great loss, and at Chicago, St. Paul and Omaha where trains were blocked, and telegraph communication cut off west of the latter places.

FROM BIDDEFORD.

Severely Injured by a Floor Giving Way.

BIDDEFORD, Feb. 18. White Stephen A. Moors and Charles F. Chapman, machinists, were making repairs in the basement of No. 2, Pepperell mill, to-night, the floor gave way and both fell eighteen feet to a raceway below. The shafting and timbers fell with them and both men were seriously injured in the head and chest. It is believed that Moors is critically injured.

A BRILLIANT RECEPTION

Given by J. H. Manley, Esq., to Members of the Legislature.

AUGUSTA, Feb. 18. Representative and Mrs. J. H. Manley gave a large and elegant party last evening to those members of the Legislature who had accompanying them their wives or daughters. Among the distinguished guests present were Hon. James G. Blaine and wife, Miss Dodge, (Gail Hamilton) Gov. Bodwell and wife, President of the Senate Marble, Speaker of the House Littlefield, Attorney General Baker, Secretary of State Smith, State Treasurer Burleigh and a large number of Senators and Representatives, accompanied either by their wives or daughters. Many newspaper men were also present. It was a very large and brilliant reception.

FIRE AT BERWICK.

Bobbin Factory Burned.

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 18. Waterhouse & Wentworth's bobbin factory, in Berwick, Maine, with contents, was destroyed by fire this afternoon, caused by overheated pipes. The loss on machinery and stock is $3,000; insured $2,500; loss on building, owned by M. S. Pettingill, $1,250; no insurance.

PENSIONS GRANTED.

Additional to Residents of Maine.

BLACKSTONE THE EMBEZZLER

Now a Free Man at Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 18. Thomas Blackstone, who robbed the Canal National Bank, of Portland, Me., of $60,000, was released to-day, extradition being refused on the ground that the offense is not forgery, under the common law, but embezzlement.

FROM ROCKLAND.

Death of an Octogenarian.

ROCKLAND, Feb. 18. Joseph Watts, a prominent citizen of Tenant's Harbor, and a brother of Capt. Samuel Watts, died suddenly in his chair this morning, aged eighty years.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT FROM THE WIND.

Two Lives Lost and Perhaps More.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 18. An accident occurred in this city about noon to-day, by which a young girl and a man and probably more lost their lives. All the morning there had been a high wind and coming from the south it had full sweep down the Genesee river channel. The result was that a gust of more than ordinary strength snapped off two large poles which carry the telegraph wires across the bridge, and which were so placed in iron trusses that when they fell they carried with them two spans of the bridge upon which they stood.

Two persons state that at the time of the accident they saw a girl and a man go down with the wreck, plunge into the flood and were carried away.

Annie Gorham, aged nineteen, was one of the victims of the accident. Three others are missing and fears are entertained that they were swept down the river. The exact number of lives lost cannot yet be ascertained.

UNITED STATES SENATORS.

Still No Choice in New Jersey.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 18. Another ballot for United States Senator was taken in the joint convention of the Legislature to-day, with the following result: Sewall 35, Abbett 35, Bedle 3, Ludlow 1, Cortland Parker 1, Erastus E. Potter 2, William E. Potter 1, Kays 2 and Potts 1.

FORTY-NINTH CONGRESS—Second Session.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. The presiding officer laid before the Senate the resolutions of the Maine Legislature, in regard to trade relations with Canada; laid on the table. The preamble states that the Dominion Government has placed such interpretations on existing treaties as to abridge greatly the just rights and privileges of American fishermen in Canadian waters, and that their treatment has been a direct violation of the principles of comity and good neighborhood, and the resolutions favor the enactment of such laws and the adopting of such rules and regulations on the part of the American Government, and the strict enforcement of the same, as will place Canadian fishermen within the jurisdiction of the United States under the same interdictions as American fishermen are subjected to in Canadian waters, and also that such an increased duty be levied on fish from Canada as practically to exclude Canadian fishermen from the advantage of its American market.

Mr. Dolph offered a resolution authorizing the Committee on Commerce to sit during the recess of Congress at such places in the United States as it may deem proper, to inquire into the laws and regulations governing the use of moneys appropriated for rivers and harbors, the character, importance and condition of the work and all matters connected therewith, with power to send for persons and papers, employ stenographers, etc.; referred to Committee on Commerce.

Mr. Edmunds presented the conference report on the Utah polygamy bill, in the shape of a substitute for the Senate and House bills. The substitute, consisting of twenty seven sections and occupying nineteen printed pages, was read in full by the clerk.

Mr. Vest said as a matter of course the bill would become a law but he could not vote for it.

Mr Hoar asked Mr. Edmunds whether the bill anywhere in prescribing the oath or in qualifications for office or exercise of civil rights, attacked a mere opinion separate from a criminal act.

Mr. Edmunds—not in the slightest degree. The most astute and ingenious sophist could not find anywhere in this bill any hint of such a thing. It has been carefully excluded.

Mr. Call opposed the bill. He characterized it as a disgrace to the Statute book and as the second step towards the establishment of religious prosecution and intolerance.

Mr. Hoar said he had voted against the bill before because it abolished woman suffrage in the Territory. He regarded that provision as not only unjustifiable but tyrannical. For that reason he had voted against the bill before and for that reason he would vote against the conference report now. The conference report was agreed to. Yeas 37, Nays 13.

The bill now goes to the President.

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the River and Harbor appropriation bill.

The bill reported by the Committee on Commerce as a substitute for the bill passed by the House was read in full and then various amendments were offered by the chairman of the committee (Mr. McMillan) and were adopted. These were generally an increase of amounts of various items.

Mr. Edmunds moved to strike out of the section (which provides for acquirement, by condemnation of land or material necessary in the prosecution of works of improvement,) the proviso authorizing the Secretary of War, when the price asked by the owner shall be reasonable, to purchase the property without further delay. He regarded that as a very extraordinary and dangerous power to give to the Secretary of War.

After discussion the motion to strike out was defeated, yeas 17; nays 37; but the section and proviso were modified by striking out the words "or material." Without disposing of the bill the Senate, at 5.25, adjourned until to-morrow.

House.

Mr. Haynes, of New Hampshire, stated that on Tuesday next at 3 o'clock he would ask the House to take appropriate action relative to the death of Senator Pike, of New Hampshire.

On motion of Mr. Townshead, of Illinois, the Senate amendments to the Invalid Pension Appropriation bill were non-concurred in and a conference ordered.

Mr. Townshend, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported a bill appropriating $4,663,104 for the payment of the Mexican and other pensions; Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Weaver, of Nebraska, called up the vetoed pension bill of Simmons W. Hart. After some discussion the House proceeded to its consideration and refused to pass the bill over the veto, yeas 142, nays 98—not the necessary two-thirds in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. Randall, private business was dispensed with and the House went into Committee of the Whole for the further consideration of the Senate amendments to the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill.

After disposing of 196 of 260 amendments the committee rose and the House, at 5 o'clock, took a recess until 7.30.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Railroad Accident from Carelessness.

DOVER, Feb. 18. Four passenger cars of the train that left Boston for Portland at 7.30, this morning, were derailed, at Conway Junction. The accident was caused by an unad usted frog just placed there by section men. Nobody was hurt but the passengers in the first derailed car were shaken up. Traffic was delayed until the wrecking cars cleared the track.

THE STRIKERS.

The Investigation Drawing to Close.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. The Assembly Committee inquiring into the present labor troubles, met for what will probably be their last sitting to-day. Several retail coal dealers were examined as to the effect of the strike on the price of coal. It was submitted by them that the recent high price of retail coal represented nearly a proportionate profit, but was nevertheless necessary to guard against the big drop in prices that would follow the end of the strike.

It was elicited that the low price of coal in summer was indirectly of advantage to the poor consumer, because by inducing wealthier customers to lay in their winter stock then, a heavy rush and consequent high prices were avoided at the approach of cold weather.

H. W. Edye, steamship agent for the White Cross, Thingvalla, and other lines, said that no line running into New York had been making money since 1880, yet an attempt had been made to retrench wages. The men who had taken the places of the strikers in the service of the companies he represented could not be discharged, and union men could only be taken back, singly, as there were vacancies. They had not so applied yet; they had applied in a body and had been refused.

Getting Slowly Down to Work.

The steamer Elenente of the Morgan line which has been hauled up at pier 36 for several days past, owing to the strike, sailed this morning. The Excelsior took her place and it is expected that many of the strikers will be put to work on her, as the colored help is admitted to be a failure. The Union men who have already gone on this dock have made it so unpleasant for the colored men that they are getting out as fast as possible. Fifteen of them left to-day. The truckmen are complaining about the delay in getting freight shipped and one truckman, who carts freight for several large firms, says suit will be brought against the company for damages. More strikers have been taken back on the Old Dominion dock.

VERMONT.

Collision of Trains Without Fatal Result.

NORTHFIELD, Feb. 18. Accommodation train No. 68, going north on the Central Vermont road, ran into regular freight No. 5, between here and Montpelier, between ten and eleven o'clock this morning. Both engines, baggage and express cars and two freight cars were badly wrecked. Baggage master Moody and Engineer Muzzy were severely shaken up, but no bones were broken. The passenger car and passengers were all reported uninjured. The cause of the collision is unknown

MASSACHUSETTS.

Embezzled from His Employer.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Feb. 18. Herbert A. Salisbery, of Pawtucket, was arrested at Fair Haven, to-day, charged with embezzling $500 from Otis N. Mason, of Providence, his employer. He was taken to Pawtucket this afternoon.

Steamer Injured by Collision.

The steamer City of Fitchburg while coming out of the dock at New York last evening, was run into by the ferry boat Rosanna, splitting her stem as far down as could be seen. She put back, made slight repairs, sailed for this port, arrived at 12 to-day and sails for Newport to-night. The City of New Bedford will take her place.

The Boston Street Railroads.

BOSTON, Feb. 18. Everything is quiet in the street railway strikes. The Cambridge road is running about the same number of cars, covering its various branch lines without interference. Some inconvenience is experienced from the incompetency of some of the green hands, but it will not prove serious unless a heavy snow storm, which is now threatened, occurs. The situation in South Boston has slightly improved and a new line opened this morning without trouble from strikers or their friends. No serious break has been made in the strikers' ranks and they are as confident as on the first day of the strike.

THE WEATHER.

OUR ORONO LETTER.

[Regular Correspondence Whig & Courier.]

Upon assembling at the Town Hall last Thursday evening to listen to the entertainment to be given by the Colby Quartette, the hall was found to be in darkness. Upon ascertaining the cause of the trouble, it was found that the pump which forces the gas through the pipes would not work. An experienced workman has been summoned from Bangor to repair the apparatus. Quite an audience had assembled. It was as great a disappointment to the club as to any of the assembled audience to be unable to give their programme as advertised. Seeing that it would be impossible to give the entertainment in the hall Mrs. John W. Chase tendered the use of her parlors to the quartette and invited those present to assemble at her residence on Main street.

A large number of those present accepted the kind invitation so opportunely offered and under the guidance of Lieut. J. L. Philipps and wife, ably assisted by Prof. W. H. Jordan and wife, we soon found ourselves ringing for admission to the hospitable mansion of John M. Chase, Esq. There we were received and made welcome by Mrs. Chase and her charming young daughter, Miss Alice M. Chase. It being the regular meeting night of the Orono Lodge of Good Templars Mr. Chase, a prominent and an active member of the above order, was unavoidably absent from home at the time, much to his and the visitors' regret.

The quartette's regular programme having been left at the hall, they gave an improvised one which was arranged with excellent judgment, and for over an hour the audience were favored with a most interesting performance by skilled artists. The entertainment gave an earnest of what may be expected should they appear here at some future time.

Mrs. Chase and Miss Alice vied with each other in making it exceedingly home-like and agreeable for the party, and the ladies and gentlemen were given every evidence of the generous hospitality for which the Chase mansion is so justly famous. Among those present were Lieut. C. L. Phillips and wife, Prof. G. H. Hamlin and wife. Prof. F. L. Harvey and wife, Professors Flint, Hart and Bartlett, a large number of the college students and several of our town belles. Everybody was pleased with the entertainment and we doubt not that if the Quartette should visit Orono again but that they will be greeted with a large and appreciative audience.

The interesting drama, "Nevada, or the Lost Mine," which was recently presented to a large and appreciative audience in Old Town, by home talent, is to be presented by request at the Orono Town Hall next Tuesday evening. It is unnecessary to speak of the ability of the actors, for several in town were present when it was presented in Old Town. They are said to be above the average amateur troupe. Mr. George L. Godfrey's comical representations were favorably received and loudly applauded.

What is cold in the head? Medical authorities say it is due to atmospheric germs, uneven clothing of the body, rapid cooling when in perspiration, &c. The important point is, that a cold in the head is a genuine rhinitis, an inflammation of the lining membrane of the nose, which, when unchecked, is certain to produce a catarrhal condition—for catarrh is essentially a "cold" which nature is no longer able to "resolve" or throw off. Ely's Cream Balm has proved its superiority, and sufferers from cold in the head should resort to it before that common ailment becomes seated and ends in obstinate catarrh. 2w18 W&M

At one of the Dexter churches last Sunday evening, the preacher was lecturing upon amusements, and how habit opened the door that led to a good many bad results, and, on this line of remark said rather energetically "Turn back and shut the door." It happened just at this moment a stranger came into the church and had got several steps up the aisle when he heard the salutation. He supposed it was directed to him, and very solemnly went back to the door to close it before taking his seat. The smile that went round the audience was almost audible.

RECEPTION TO THE M. & G's. The young ladies who have been attending the M. & G. assemblies last night tendered the gentlemen a reception at Andrews' Hall. The first part of the evening was devoted to conversation. Soon after 8 o'clock dancing began, and a programme of seven dances was given. The dancing being concluded, tables were placed around the hall and the evening's entertainment was finished with card playing. Refreshments were served during the evening. The committee of eight young ladies is deserving of much credit for the enjoyable occasion.

A STOLEN POCKET BOOK. Yesterday morning when a boarder at the Central House awoke he found that a pocket book containing $40 was missing. He immediately made known his loss and Officer Knaide was soon on the track of the offender. He very quickly cornered the man and found out that part of the money was hidden under the approach to the toll bridge. He immediately went there and secured it. The offender had his trial in the afternoon and plead guilty. It was a skillful piece of detective work on Officer Knaide's part, for the quickness with which he secured the right man.

RECEPTION TO BUSINESS MEN. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian Association omitted their New Years' reception this year, and instead arranged to give the business men of the city a reception on Washington's Birthday, which occurs next Tuesday. On that occasion the rooms will be open and the Ladies' Auxiliary will give a reception to the business men of Bangor and their ladies from 2 to 10 o'clock P. M., and a cordial invitation is herewith extended to all to be present without further invitation. The ladies of the Auxiliary are requested to join with the reception committee to make the occasion a success.

Women's National Indian Association.

Among the philanthropic works in which the ladies of Bangor have recently interested themselves, has been the formation of a branch of the "Women's National Indian Association." The objects of the association are: 1st, To influence the people by circulating as widely as possible knowledge concerning the political, financial, industrial, educational and religious status of the Indians.

2d. To urge the execution of all laws and the fulfillment of all treaties and compacts which will hasten Indian civilization, and also to secure new and better legislation for promoting the above ends.

3d. To aid Indians in civilization, industrial training, self-support, education, citizenship and Christianization.

The headquarters of the General Association are in Philadelphia, but the annual meeting was held at the Broadway Tabernacle in New York, Nov. 18th and 19th, 1886. It was there reported that more than four hundred meetings had been held during the year, many of these having been addressed by Senators, Judges, Generals of the Army, Bishops and others distinguished for special knowledge of the Indian situation.

In our own State there are branches at Portland, Auburn, Augusta and Bath, beside our own at Bangor. There are also Associations in Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota and in Washington, D. C. The Association in Massachusetts must be considered the banner Association, having thirteen branches, six of which have an aggregate of over nine hundred members.

It supports two missionaries at Round Valley, Cal., raising a thousand dollars a year for this purpose. The society in Cambridge is characterized by great vitality and energy. In its public meetings it has had the support of the Hon. James Russell Lowell, Dr. O. W. Holmes, Prof. Brewer, Prof. J. B. Thayer, Rev. S. Longfellow and others.

In the city of Lawrence some of the churches devote one of their regular missionary meetings to the subject of the Indian work.

In the report of the proceedings of the National Association, the General Secretary says: "People tell us that the Indian needs no friends, that he will not work, that he had no aspiration, yet here is the fact officially stated by our Government's own Board of Indian Commissioners, that seventy-five thousand Indians are to-day asking for homes which are due them, and that they may be permitted to leave savagery.

Seventy-five thousand Indians confronting a Christian nation, a nation owing them twenty-six millions of dollars, and praying for the possibility of rising out of barbarism into civilization, and ten millions of Christians, hearing this plea and obdurately denying them! Is this so? No! That were an impossibility. Therefore, to make this Christian nation know the plea, and the humanity, capability and aspiration, demonstrated in these outcries is our work as an Association."

The Branch in Bangor is still small, but the meetings are extremely interesting.

The terms of Membership are: Annual Subscribers, $1 a year; Life Members, $10; Patrons, $25; Honorary Members, $50. Ladies are invited to attend, and join the organization so that they may use all possible influences in aid of so noble a work.

First Congregational Church Entertainment.

Notwithstanding the storm last evening the vestry of the First Congregational church was very well filled and a most enjoyable evening was passed. Supper was served on the European plan from 6 to 8 o'clock. After supper the following programme was presented:

Cornet solo, Mr. E. C. Adams; House Maids' Drill; reading, Mr. F. S. Hunnewell; banjo duett, Messrs. Coombs and Wyman; song, Mr. J. H. Dole; whistling solo, Miss Bertha Milliken; reading, Mr. Hunnewell; song, Miss Nettie Gratien; banjo solo, Mr. Coombs.

All the selections on the programme were finely given, as is usual with the talent taking part, and all were encored, showing that the audience fully appreciated the entertainment.

The "House Maids' Drill" is especially worthy of mention. This was performed by thirty two young ladies dressed in pretty house maid's costume. The difficult evolutions of the march were gone through with in a graceful and exact manner, which showed a most careful drill had taken place beforehand.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake followed the entertainment, and, after an auction of the remaining eatables the assembly broke up well pleased at the enjoyment of the evening.

The young ladies who arranged the affair are deserving of many thanks for the success of the pleasing entertainment.

THE MEGANTIC RAILROAD.

THE HEARING BEFORE THE RAILROAD COMMITTEE.

The Compromise Bill Offered by Charles P. Stetson, Esq.

The hearing before the Committee on Railroads on the petition of the Megantic Railroad Company for an amendment of its charter, allowing the company to change the location of its road, which took place Thursday and occupied the afternoon and evening up to eleven o'clock, was of much interest and attracted a great deal of attention. The Senate Chamber, Augusta, in which the hearing was held, was filled by intelligent and interested auditors, and the evidence presented and the able presentation by the counsel received the closest attention.

Our despatches yesterday gave a brief summary of the testimony, but some features require a more extended notice. Hon. Moses Giddings, President of the Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad for nine years, gave a clear and concise history of the extension of the road to Blanchard, the often referred to deviations from the "Hilton Survey," and the reasons therefor, made a clear and concise statement of the situation of the road, and showed the effect upon it should the amendment asked for by the Megantic Company be granted.

Hon. A. G. Wakefield stated clearly the history of the legislation in regard to the two roads, and the action of the citizens and City Government of Bangor looking to the protection of the city's interest.

M. S. Drummond, Esq., gave a statement of the character of the country on the different routes, proposed for the Megantic road, having been familiar with it for forty years.

J. F. Anderson Esq., gave an account of the construction of the extension of the B. & P. Railroad, and said that in his opinion the road, as regards grades and curves, could be made to conform to the requirements of the Dominion subsidy act for one fourth of the amount stated by Mr. Ross, which was $500,000.

Superintendent Brown answered some questions asked him by Mr. Stetson in regard to the character of the road, and the difficulty of changing it to conform with the requirements.

Hon. J. H. Drummond, counsel for the Maine Central Railroad Co., then read the contract by which the International Railway Co. is to pay the Maine Central Railroad Co. the sum of $425 per mile per year for the right to run their trains over the Maine Central.

Charles P Stetson, Esq., then offered the following amendment to the amendment asked for by the Megantic Railroad Co.:

But instead of the route herein granted, the said International Railroad Company shall use the line of the Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad Company from its terminus at Moosehead Lake to a point in Milo, and thence by the most feasible route to its line as above granted, upon such terms for use, lease or purchase as hereinafter provided, if the said Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad can be made to conform in its grades and curves to the requirements of the act of the Dominion of Canada. And for the purpose of ascertaining if said Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad can be made to conform to such grades and curves the Governor, upon the petition of the B. & P. R. R. Co., and at their expense, shall appoint a commission of three competent engineers, who shall determine what changes shall be required in the B. & P. R. R. And the terms of use, lease or purchase shall be agreed upon by the International and B. & P. R. R. Co, and in case of failure to so agree shall be determined by the Railroad Commissioners or by seven commissioners appointed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court as the International R. R. Co. may elect, and if the said B. & P. R. R. Co. shall not accept the decision of the said commissioners said International R. R. Co. shall not be required to use any part of the B. & P. R. R. Co.'s road; but if such decision is accepted, contract shall be made between the two companies. All changes of grade and curvature shall be made by said International R. R. Co. and in fixing the terms of the contract the commissioners may take into consideration the cost of such charges.

Mr. Stetson's argument before the Committee was clear, logical and convincing, and its able delivery commanded the most earnest attention of all. He reviewed the original charter granted in 1871, which provided that the International Company should use the Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad from Moosehead Lake to Milo, the amendment to the charter made in 1881, in which a compromise was made between the two companies which became a solemn compact, and the act of 1885, allowing the company to bridge Moosehead Lake and take still another route from those already agreed upon. And now the company asks still another amendment, allowing them to run their line for forty miles, from the Lake to Brownville, parallel to that of the Bangor and Piscataquis and distant from it only from six to eleven miles. He urged the committee to protect the citizens of Maine and hold the International Co. true to its obligations.

C. F. Woodard, Esq., closed for the International Company and made an able argument for his side of the question.

After the closing of Mr. Woodard's argument, the hour being very late the bill was laid on the table for future consideration and the committee adjourned.

The large number of prominent Bangor business men present created a good impression, were the subject of much favorable comment, and showed the interest which is felt in protecting Bangor's interests in the Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad.

The committee present from the City Council were his Honor the Mayor, Alderman H. W. Chase, President C. F. Bragg and Messrs. C. W. Coffin and Robert Hickson of the Common Council.

Decisions in Law.

The following decisions in law have been received by Charles F. Sweet, Esq., Clerk of the Eastern Law District:

PENOBSCOT COUNTY CASE.

Charles D. Bryant et als. aplts vs. County Commissioners of Penobscot County.

Rescript—A majority of the committee, appointed by the Supreme Judicial Court on appeal from the doings of the County Commissioners in the location of a way, may determine the question submitted to them, viz.: the fact, whether common convenience and necessity require that the doings of the Commissioners shall be affirmed, or reversed, in whole, or in part, and report accordingly; but whether the doings of the Commissioners are legal, or illegal, they have nothing to do. Such questions are purely questions of law for the Court to decide upon the coming in of the report of the committee, or upon other apt procedure.

In this case the petition is sufficient; the doings of the Commissioners are regular and valid; their return is a location of so much of the way prayed for as specified therein, and a refusal to locate the residue thereof as prayed for.

The committee may revise the doings of the Commissioners by affirming their judgment in whole by affirming it in part or by revising it altogether, or in part, or by affirming a part and refusing a part.

The Commissioners located a part of the way prayed for and refused to locate the balance. It is the function of the committee to revise the doings of the Commissioners as they may find common convenience and necessity may require, this is their whole duty.

"Exceptions sustained. Report re-committed with instructions for committee to follow opinion."

Wilson & Woodard, Attys. for Appellants.
Humphrey & Appleton, Attys. for Appellees.

AROOSTOOK COUNTY CASE.

Charles O. Wyman vs. Elmer E. Rollins.

Rescript—The defendant having failed to prosecute his motion for a new trial within the time fixed therefor and having failed to furnish the evidence adduced at the trial as required by law his motion must be overruled.

"Motion overruled for want of prosecution."

F. L. Roberts for plaintiff.
Wilson and Lumbert for defendant.

THE FREE ENTRY OF FOREIGN-SAWED LUMBER.

Application to the Secretary of the Treasury for the Prevention of Alleged Extensive Evasions of the Lumber Tariff.

Memorials setting forth that great frauds upon the revenue have been committed under the guise of the laws granting free entry of lumber manufactured in the British Provinces by American citizens from logs cut in the State of Maine, have been numerously signed by the principal lumbermen of the Penobscot and Kennebec Rivers and forwarded to the Secretary of the Treasury through our members of Congress, with request that the Department set in motion effective agencies for the prevention of the violations of law complained of. Representative Boutelle recently received a number of these memorials signed by the most prominent lumber manufacturers of Bangor, Old Town, Orono, Milford and the vicinity representing the business on the Penobscot river, forwarded to him by Messrs. W. T. Pearson & Co., and on Tuesday he called personally on Secretary Fairchild with the papers and had an interview with him in regard to this important matter.

The Secretary expressed a very earnest desire to do anything in the power of the Department to remedy the evils represented, but stated some of the difficulties encountered, and the importance of having the cooperation of American lumber manufacturers with the revenue authorities in the matter of discovering and punishing fraudulent importations. The interview resulted in the following correspondence:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT.
February 15, 1887.

Hon. C. A. Boutelle, U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

Sir—Referring to the Petition of Messrs. Wm. T. Pearson and Co., Adams and Co., and others of Bangor, Maine, submitted by you to the Department, concerning alleged frauds in the importation of sawed lumber from New Brunswick, claimed to be the productions of the forests of the State of Maine, I transmit herewith a letter this day addressed to the said parties, which I will thank you, after perusal, to cause to be forwarded to the proper address.

Respectfully Yours,
C. S. FAIRCHILD,
Acting Secretary.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 15, 1887.

Messrs. Wm. T. Pearson & Co., Adams & Co., and Others, Bangor, Maine:

Gentlemen—The Department is in receipt through the Hon. C. A. Boutelle of your petition without date, concerning alleged frauds in the importation of sawed lumber from New Brunswick, which is claimed to be the production of logs cut in the State of Maine, and sawn in the Province of New Brunswick by American citizens, and to be entitled to free entry under the provisions of Section 2505 and 2506 of the Revised Statutes, as contained in the act of March 3, 1883.

The petition represents that great frauds exist in such importation in that a comparatively small amount of Maine timber is mingled with the great drives of the St. John river in New Brunswick, which are floated to the mills in that Province and there manufactured, and that the product consisting principally of foreign lumber, is then imported into the United States, and admitted to free entry as of the productions of the State of Maine, manufactured in New Brunswick by American citizens.

The Department is unable to take any definite action upon the general statement made in said petition. If you will, however, forward particulars concerning any transactions of which you have knowledge, specifying the names of importers, and importing vessels, dates of importations, and other data, the Department will cause careful investigation to be be made with a view to detect such frauds, and to prevent their recurrence in the future.

Respectfully yours,
C. S. FAIRCHILD,
Acting Secretary.

Scrofula

Is one of the most fatal scourges which afflict mankind. It is often inherited, but may be the result of improper vaccination, mercurial poison, uncleanliness, and various other causes. Chronic Sores, Ulcers, Abscesses, Cancerous Humors, and, in some cases, Emaciation and Consumption, result from a scrofulous condition of the blood. This disease can be cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Some months ago I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores on my leg. The limb was badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy failed until I used Ayer's Sarsaparilla. By taking three bottles of this medicine the sores have been healed, and my health is restored. I am grateful for the good it has done me.—Mrs. Ann O'Brian, 158 Sullivan st., New York.

SCROFULOUS AND Cancerous Humors, Salt Rheum, Canker, Erysipelas and Ulcers

Are diseases in which VEGETINE performs more permanent cures than any other medicine known. No combination of plants, roots, and herbs that are known as blood-purifying agents can be more perfect than is found in Vegetine, and no medicine can be prepared with greater care. Its immense success in the cure of blood diseases is the best evidence of its real merit. When a medicine will cure cases of Scrofula of twenty years standing, there can be little doubt of its medicinal power. This has been done by Vegetine repeatedly. When you find a remedy that will renew the acid condition of the blood and drive rheumatic pain from the system, you should have confidence in it. You have such a remedy in Vegetine, and we can furnish abundant evidence to prove the truth of this statement.

RETRIBUTION.

BY "THE DUCHESS."

CHAPTER VI.

A sweeping lawn; broad terraces; far away as the eye can reach, a gleaming, swaying ocean. Behind the lawn a background of giant firs that shut out the sky in that direction, and throw into brilliant relief the white clad figures darting to and fro upon the tennis ground.

Gerald Massareene, having lost his game, flings his racket to the winds, and throws himself prone at the feet of Nadine Roche.

"Pretty place, eh?" says he. "Soothing to the nerves after the town fever?" Then looking at her and marking the extreme repose of her bearing, that almost borders upon lassitude, he says gently, "Tired?"

"No."

She brightens up with an effort and smiles at him in her kindest fashion. Her thoughts are tangled—her mind perturbed. Both are far from the busy scene before her. A sense of despair, of inability to move in the path that stretched out so temptingly to her view, has saddened her eyes and given a mournful curve to her beautiful mouth. Her days passed here with Maurice Duran have been infinitely sweeter to her than ever she had dreamed they might be. The very nearness of their companionship had had its charm, and though no word of love had come from his lips, still, eyes can speak when words are forbidden; and though honor renders one dumb, who can prevent the sense of gladness that comes with the touch of one beloved!

Sweet days! too sweet to last—and swift as sweet. A whole fortnight has gone by—two weeks crowded with such exquisite recollections as will (unhappily cling to her for all her life. And now it is the 16th—to-morrow will be the night of the grand ball, given in honor of Capt. Boyle's birthday, who is expected to arrive about an hour before it opens, and then— Another ghastly blissful week, perhaps, and after that a return to town, and—a hurried wedding! Then exile from all that has made life not only endurable but perfect.

Sometimes a thought of Paul Annerley has crossed her mind, but as a rule, she has resolutely put all remembrance of him far from her. She had told herself that this one holiday at least should be her own. Afterward let oblivion, let misery come, but just for these few happy days she would let utter joy hold sway. She had heard nothing of her future husband since her departure, and if at times it had occurred to her as strange that he had not written to her from those foreign cities, whither his search of the robber of the famous sapphires led him, the sense of relief in not having to write to him swallowed up all such wonder.

"How should I feel tired?" she says now, smiling at Gerald Massareene, who has become quite a friend of hers.

He has found in her an ally—a certain partisan, who derides the notion of Millicent's ever consenting to fulfill her loveless engagement to Capt. Boyle while her heart is given to another. That other, now stretched at the pretty partisan's feet, is quite willing to accept her reading of the situation. Though Millicent herself has been somewhat difficult to understand, a little vague in her answers, a trifle willful, in a degree—a marked degree—averse to being brought to the point, still Mr. Massareene is inclined to believe in the creed of his pretty confidante when she declares herself ready to affirm publicly her belief in the constancy of his fair, if rather trying, love.

"Well, I'm glad you are not," says he pleasantly, alluding to her assertion that she knows no fatigue. "To-night there will be an influx of guests, ordered, like the supper, for to-morrow night, and it would not do to be in poor form. You look pale, however."

"Are many coming?" "Enough to make us put on our best bibs and tucker and our choicest manners. You will have to make your very best bow to the lord lieutenant of the county, and to smirk at a youthful if very famous general. The only thing to be careful about is not to overdo it to-night, to remember that the morrow will bring the big Nautch, and to reserve some smiles for the hero of the hour."

He speaks with some bitterness.

"To-morrow night will bring Capt. Boyle." She looks at him softly out of her serene eyes. "Do not let that make you unhappy. His presence means less than nothing. Indeed, I believe it will do your cause good."

"Sweet prophetess! I would I dared share your creed."

"What creed?" asks Duran, who has joined them unseen.

"A belief Miss Roche has in the unconquerable power of love," replies Massareene gayly, springing to his feet and crossing the close turf to where he can see Millicent standing, for once, alone.

"And so you believe in love's omnipotency," says Duran, gazing at Nadine with calm searching eyes. "You?"

"There is surprise in your tone—and doubt. Why should I not hold such a creed?" returns she steadily, though her lips have grown very pale.

"I cannot answer that here. Will you come with me to the Fir-wood? I shall not keep you long, and I must speak to you. Do not refuse me, Nadine. This is probably the last hour we shall ever have together. I leave the park the day after to-morrow."

She had shrunk a little from him when first he appealed to her, but as his pleading grew stronger, more impassioned, she rose. With her eyes downcast, and her color faded to a pallor that bespoke an anguished heart, she moved beside him to the wood he had mentioned.

Presently they enter it. The eternal greenness of it stirs her blood once more to an admiration that rouses her and compels her return to the immediate present. Ever since she had obeyed his word, and risen and followed him hither, she had been in a kind of waking dream that had been too sweet to permit her desire for its dissolution. Now, however, that she is fully awake to her danger as well as to her pain, it is too late to withdraw from a tete-a-tete, that she feels must rive her soul.

Duran, stopping abruptly beneath the spreading branches of a huge Scotch fir, lays his hand upon her arm, thus arresting her footsteps also.

"If love be indeed all-powerful how is it that I have failed?" he asks in a low tone. "No love was ever stronger than that I bear for you, and yet it has been of no avail when matched against the barrier that stands between you and me. Has it been my fault, or is it that the love should be equal on both sides, and that—yours—falls below the mark?"

She had been standing with lowered lids and trembling hands, but now, as though forced to it against her will, she looks at him. Her large, dark, mournful eyes are full of a reproachful mute, but so terrible that his heart grows warm within him. Alas! how clearly in those melancholy eyes is her pure love lying.

"It is true, then! I have your love," he says, always in a low voice, but none the less ecstatically; "and if so, my dearest, why will you repulse me? Ah! have pity on me, if you will not on yourself! Think—think before you sacrifice us both to a mistaken sense of duty."

"I have given my word," says Nadine—"my promise."

"A word—a promise—better broken. See here, my love, I have lived many years longer than you. To many," he says after a pause, that is fraught with regret for those past hours when he had not known her, and when another had borne his name—another he loved and undesired. "I cannot bear to think what years lie between your birthday and mine; but still my very age gives me the right to speak. Is it good that you should surrender all your happiness to one for whom you have no real regard, just because you once gave him a hope to that effect? Nay, there is no loyalty in that. Better let him go than live to repent the bargain his has made."

"There is my word," persists she, meekly but earnestly. "I cannot take that back, and he, too, loves me. He loves me so well," declares she with an intuition that has revealed to her the real passion of the man whom she has promised to marry, "that I think it would kill him did I now prove false."

"You are very tender toward him!" exclaims he bitterly. "But if me! how is it with me? No, I shall not die. I am not made of such brittle stuff as this other lover of yours. I shall probably live, even though you forsake me; but what of my life? ... is it to be? ... [illegible] ... [illegible] to you no more... a [illegible] of me! for this ... it is kind to [illegible] ... says she, with such a forlorn glance as once more reduces him to a forgetfulness of self, and to the old passionate regret for her.

"It is kind. If my cruelty can rescue you from the Slough of Despond into which you now are drifting it is more than kind. What! will you live out all your fresh young life without a joy—all hope? Nadine, I implore you to pause!"

"It is too late." She lays her palms upon her bosom and regards him with blanched cheeks. "Oh! if I had only met you sooner; but now—now!"—

"Your words are an acknowledgment of your love for me" cries he, casting his arms about her. "I will surrender you to no man. Nadine! Beloved! Do not shrink from me—do not seek to unloose my arms."

"I must," sobs she vehemently. "Have I not told you that all this comes too late? I—I am to be married in a fortnight."

It is his turn to shrink, to pale. He opens his arms instinctively, and lets her draw back from him with quivering lips, and trembling limbs that almost refuse to support her.

"I will not believe it," he says at last hoarsely. "A fortnight! To give yourself body and soul to one for whom you are caring nothing—in a fortnight! Child! Darling! Say it is not true."

"I cannot!" She has buried her face in her hands.

"And that is a woman's honor—a woman's honesty" says he, pacing to and fro upon the mossy sward with a disturbed brow, and lips stern and compressed. "Do you think this man will thank you for the empty casket you are offering him? The body without the soul would be to me worthless. Who shall say he does not think as I do? Come"—stopping short before her and gazing at her fixedly—"tell me the name of this city clerk who stands between us! If you will do nothing toward the untying of a knot that may ruin three lives, I will."

"Paul Annerley."

"But do not pursue this matter," she says eagerly, going a step or two nearer to him and laying her hand upon his arm. "Do not, I implore you!"

"I shall pursue it until the iniquitous words are said that will bind you to him for life," replies he doggedly. "Nay," grasping her hand as she turns hopelessly away from him, "do not think me unkind, my love; it is for your happiness as for my own I strive."

"If indeed, you desire my happiness," cries she, risking all things in her longing to save him from a vengeance that some instinctive knowledge teaches her will be deadly, "abstain from intervention of any sort. Do not seek Paul Annerley. Let me fulfill my destiny. Let me marry him. Believe me, there is no hope!"

He might perhaps have misjudged her, and have believed her already wedded in heart to Annerley, but for her concluding words. But these, and the melancholy light in her large eyes reassure him of the truth that in reality she is altogether his. There is, however, so keen a sense of weariness in her attitude and expression that he resolves on refraining from further argument.

"Well," he says, with an attempt at lightness that does not deceive her, "we have said enough for to-day, and you look tired. Come, let me take you home. Remember there will be a large addition to our party to-night, and of course you will like to look your best."

"I will go back to the house when you have promised me one thing," returns she steadily; "that you will not seek Paul Annerley for four days from this. Give me these four days."

She is trembling with excitement, and her eyes are full of tears that will not be repressed. Four days. To-day—to-morrow; these two cannot be avoided. Were she to leave now, before to-night's dinner—that is but a herald of to-morrow night's ball, when Capt. Boyle is expected, to grace his own birthday entertainment—it would be regarded as nothing less than an act of discourtesy by her kindly hostess. But the day after she might leave; Paul by that time will surely be returned to town—and her (bitter thought!)—and she can easily so manage as to prevent a meeting between him and Mr. Duran.

"The four days you crave are yours," replies Duran gravely, noting the fever in her eyes. "Now, in turn, concede me a gratification. Let me accompany you back to the park."

What is cold in the head? Medical authorities say it is due to atmospheric germs, uneven clothing of the body, rapid cooling when in perspiration, &c. The important point is, that a cold in the head is a genuine rhinitis, an inflammation of the lining membrane of the nose, which when unchecked, is certain to produce a catarrhal condition—for catarrh is essentially a "cold" which nature is no longer able to "resolve" or throw off. Ely's Cream Balm has proven its superiority, and sufferers from cold in the head should resort to it before that common ailment becomes seated and ends in obstinate catarrh. [illegible] WFM&w

My little son, aged eight years, has been afflicted with Eczema of the scalp, and at times a great portion of the body, ever since he was two years old. It began in his ears, and extended to his scalp, which became covered with scabs and sores, and from which a sticky fluid poured out, causing intense itching and distress, and leaving his hair matted and lifeless. Underneath these scabs the skin was raw, like a piece of beefsteak. Gradually the hair came out and was destroyed, until but a small patch was left at the back of the head. My friends in Peabody know how my little boy has suffered. At night he would scratch his head until his pillow was covered with blood. I used to tie his hands behind him, and in many ways tried to prevent his scratching; but it was no use, he would scratch. I took him to the hospital and to the best physicians in Peabody without success. About this time, some friends, who had been cured by the Cuticura Remedies, prevailed on me to try them. I began to use them on the 15th of January last. In seven months every article of the disease was removed. Not a spot or scab remains on his scalp to tell the story of his suffering. His hair has returned, and is thick and strong, and his scalp as sweet and clean as any child's in the world. I cannot say enough to express my gratitude for this wonderful cure by the Cuticura Remedies, and wish all similarly afflicted to know that my statement is true and without exaggeration.

CHARLES McKAY, Peabody, Mass.

Oct. 6, 1885.

I have seen Mr. McKay's boy when badly affected with the Eczema. He was a pitiful sight to look at. I know he has tried our best physicians, and did all a father could do for a suffering child, but availed nothing. I know that the statements he has made you as regards the curing of his boy by your Cuticura Remedies are true in every particular.

WILLIAM J. McCARTHY, 33 Foster St., Peabody, Mass.

I do not know of any instance in which the Cuticura Remedies have failed to produce satisfactory results. I believe I have sold more of them than of any other skin remedies I have ever handled during the thirty-three years of my experience as a druggist.

A Word About Catarrh.

"It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelop surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammeling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath, and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelopes the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviatives are simply procrastinated sufferings, leading to a fatal termination. Sanford's Radical Cure, by Inhalation and by Internal administration, has never failed; even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell and taste have been recovered, and the disease thoroughly driven out."

Sanford's Radical Cure consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent, and one Improved Inhaler, neatly wrapped in one package, with full directions; price, $1.00.

[illegible] FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you. Address Dr. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl [illegible]
